Another fire at Halifax.

Mr. De Wolf, from Yarmouth, N. S. saw a Halifax paper there of the 20th ult. of Dec, which gave an account of another destructive fire at that place. It commenced in Water street, in a cooper's shop adjoining the store of Mr. George Gravie, both of which it destroyed. It also destroyed the house and store of Messrs. Starr and Shannon; the grocery of Mr. Hawe; the house of Dr. Petrie, & many others. The amount of loss and damage was very great.

Mr. De Wolf left Yarmouth, on the 3d inst. and came passenger in the Enterprize, from Liverpool, N. S. which put in there,

We were favoured with a Halifax paper of Dec. 14, from which the following articles are copied.

Halifax, Dec. 14.

The schr. Industry, arrived here on Thursday from St. Johns, Newfoundland with 150 passengers, principally laborers, By this arrival we received papers to the 27th ult. They state the distresses of the laboring classes to be very great: provisions scarce and high, and recommend to the Merchants and others of the town, to aid and assist in the laudable undertaking of relieving their fellow creatures from inevitable starvation, by providing them with prompt means of returning to the mother country.

Private letters to the 29th ult. have been received by a Mercantile House in this town from St. Johns, Newfoundland, from which we learn that it had been ascertained that the quantity of Flour in market did not exceed 1000 bbls. The government had already engaged four vessels to take 800 of those unfortunate men to their native country.

The daily accession of inhabitants to this town, of the laboring class has now become, more particularly on account of the present season, a matter of serious importance; and one which should in some measure engage the attention of every reflecting mind and benevolent heart. In a cause like this, I do not think it can be considered as presumption in any person, who may venture to bring the consideration of this subject before the public, or who may give his opinion in regard to the best plan to be adopted, for the relief, not only of the emigrants who are continually arriving, but also for the relief of the resident poor of this town,

It appears to me that whatever plan is accepted, it certainly should be one, which, while it bestows charity, should promote industry,

ST. JOHN, N. F. Nov. 27.

We beg leave to render our readers to an extract of a letter from the British Consul at N. York, inserted in this days Journal; by which it will appear, that our situation, with respect to an overflow of laboring people from the mother country, is not singular; and if in a country like the United States of America, which produces every necessary of life even to luxury, it be found necessary that the British Government should be called upon to defray the expences of sending their subjects home, how much more is the principle applicable in a British Settlement particularly Newfoundland where there is no interior to fly to for relief, depending altogether upon precarious importation, now nearly at an end for the season. This town contains a population of about twelve thousand, where at present, there is not more of the article of biscuit for sale, than about 4000 qtls. ascertained by the enquiry of respectable men, and other provisions in proportion; how then are three fourths of the people to exist without the means of purchasing of this small supply? Humanity startles at the scene presented; robbery or starvation must follow, if something more is not done to alleviate the pending distress.

We feel it a duty incumbent on us, thus far to expose the distressed situation of the county, in the hope that his excellency the governor, previous to his departure, will be induced to extend his humanity still further for the amelioration of the distress of the poor. We likewise feel it our duty to call upon the respectable merchants, and others of this town, to aid and assist in the laudable undertaking of relieving our fellow creatures from inevitable starvation, by providing them with means of returning to the mother country. The season is far advanced, and as something must be done, no time should be lost in carrying the necessary measures into effect.

It is a well known fact, that numbers of fishermen in this town, have not the means of even providing shelter against the inclemency of the weather, but are necessiated to lie in boats that are laid up in havlofts, stable, etc.—Certainly houses or stores could be procured to answer the purpose of general lodgings, at a small expense.

We would earnestly recommend all those who have a supply of potatoes, and who have not frost proof cellars, to bury them deep in the ground, to preserve this most valuable substitute for bread.

ALEXANDRIA.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 17.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

January 15.

The Association for establishing a Colony of Free Negroes, with their own consent, under the sanction of the United States, laid the affair yesterday, for the first time before Congress, in a memorial presented by Mr. Randolph, on whose motion it was laid upon the table and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Forsyth keeps up his fire upon the president and directors of the National Bank. He yesterday moved two Resolutions; one, declaring the arrangement with the stockholders of which so much has already been said, to be an unwarrantable exertion of their corporate powers, and ordering the Secretary of the Treasury to withhold the deposits of the government from them, till the stipulated proportion of specie of the second instalment is paid. The second declaring that the discount of notes, or the loaning of money by the bank, on the credit of the funded debt of the U. S. is a manifest violation of the constitution of said bank, and directing the Secretary of the Treasury, whenever he finds any such discount or loan made, to withdraw from the bank the deposits of government, and give Congress information thereof on the session following. Pretty sharp work this, you will say.

And now the new compensation bill was brought forward in a committee of the whole house. It purports to make new compensation on the per diem plan, and to repeal the old laws. Mr. Johnson declared that in bringing the bill and stating the sums to fill the blanks he acted as an agent to the committee, at the same time reserving to himself the right of voting against the measure which he wholly disapproved. Mr. Southard proposed the old six dollars a day, and Mr. Desha and Mr. Kendrick, of Indiana, supported that motion. Mr. Grosvenor proposed TEN dollars, and in obedience to the instructions of the committee Mr. Johnson EIGHT, while Mr. Randolph was for letting the matter rest, or for totally and with retrospective operation repealing it. Mr. Clay, the Speaker, denied that the public dissatisfaction with the law was altogether to be ascribed to faction or demagogues: for it had burst out at once in all parts of the Union, and was ascribed to a misconception of the substantial nature of the case. He recognized too the right of constituents to instruct their representatives and the duty of the latter to obey them; but still subject to certain limitations. If the instructions went to violate the constitution they were not obligatory; but in cases of mere expediency, he thought they were so, when clearly and fairly expressed. For his own constituents he could answer, that in changing the mode of compensation, from yearly to daily allowance, and at the same time increasing the amount of it to nine, ten or eleven dollars a day he should comply with their will. When he first met them, there was not one solitary individual among them that was not opposed to the law; but when the matter came to be discussed and time was afforded them for reflection, there was not one, on the other hand, who did not admit that an augmentation proportioned in substance to the amount allowed by the law of the last session, was just and expedient.

Mr. Randolph made a speech of great variety of matter and of no less eloquence. He took that enlarged and liberal view of the subject which might be expected from an independent, bold statesman, who more regarded truth than popularity, and chose rather to serve the people against their palates, than to please their humours at the expense of their substantial interests. He gave the people of the United States credit for fortitude and good temper in bearing great privations and losses of magnitude. Who would believe, said he, that the people of the United States, who with the most exemplary patience, endured the embargo law, the non-intercourse law, the horrors and privations of the war, and the enormous burthen of taxes consequent to it, who bore to see the election of President taken out of their hands, and along with all these, the most sore abuses of every kind, could be kindled into rage by a puff of factious clamor, and that after having slept so profoundly, the indignation of the Leviathan should be suddenly raised into action by the sorry consideration of the 1500 dollars a year law.

As this was but the opening of the affair, we may lay our account with further displays of eloquence upon it—of which, by the bye, it is impossible to convey even a remote idea in a short letter of this kind. The committee rose, reported progress and obtained leave to sit again.

At a meeting of the Stockholders in the Little River Turnpike Company, on the 13th instant, the following gentlemen were chosen to manage the affairs of the Company for the ensuing year:—

Joseph Dean, President.

Charles Lewis, Wm. H. Fitzhugh, Richard Ratcliffe, David Ross, } Directors.

Jonah Thompson, Treasurer.

PERPETUAL MOTION.

For ages past the world has been racking its wits for the invention of a machine to perform the perpetual motion; to this purpose, much time, labor and money has been spent, we believe without success. That such an invention would be of inconceivable utility, must be most obvious; particularly if adapted to the purposes of mills, forges and other heavy machinery; and more especially to those parts of the world where sufficient streams and falls of water are not to be met with for those purposes: but is it not to be wondered at, no one, we understand, has ever until very lately, suggested the idea of an invention which would answer nearly (if not equally) as good an end (taking into consideration the difference of expence) as the perpetual motion, viz a machine that would only require to be put in motion at certain periods of time, say one in 24 or even 12 hours. Such an one we apprehend would be attended with little (if any) more trouble to the attendants than a common water mill which is frequently put in motion and stopped in the course of a day.

We understand that a gentleman (Mr. J. B. Cannon) of Prince William County, Virginia, has in idea the invention of such a machine; and from hints dropped by him to some few friends, and from the well known and extensive genius of this gentleman, we have but little doubt if he undertakes the execution he will succeed. And we hope the great benefit which would be derived by the public and accrue to himself from such a discovery, will prompt him soon to undertake it.

A SUBSCRIBER.

MAXIMS AND TROUGHTS.

Without the devotion of heart, in religious performances there is no avail; without it all external sanctity, and the most pompous outward solemnities are altogether void of dignity, and no more to be accounted of than empty and vain amusements.

The privilege of a simple and private worship, in the temple of a man's own bosom, is no new doctrine, it subsisted before temples or altars, the works of men's hands, were made.

Before there were any external forms of devotion, or any fixed hours for assembling together to call on the name of the Lord; it was the appointed simple worship of Adam in paradise: the divine principle of it had doubtless been co-existent with the earliest intelligent creation: and on account of its own eternal fitness, it must endure forever.

Liquids, when struck with a rapid and sudden blow, will assume all the character of the hardest substances. This fact is beautifully exemplified in the successive rebounds made by cannon shot from the surface of the sea. In confirmation of the remark, we may quote a very singular and curious circumstance mentioned by travellers, relative to the method of catching fish, which is success fully practised in some of the northern countries. The hardy peasant, when the smaller lakes and rivers of Lapland and Siberia are completely frozen over, as soon as he observes through the clear ice a fish perhaps a considerable depth, but lying close to the bottom, strikes a smart blow against the firm surface and the impulse sent through the vertical column of water instantly stuns or kills his prey, which he draws up by a large hook let down through the ice.

There is an excellent way of putting off a tradesman, by a true man of fashion—drawl out your words indistinctly, & receive him lolling on your sofa or chair picking your teeth and twirling your watch chain. So Mr. A—, you have bro't your bill I see: very well I like punctuality; you may lay it on the table, Mr. A.——and I say, Mr. A. you may call on this day fortnight, and then I may probably inform you Mr. A. when you may call again.

The following advice, with a few alterations which we have made, was accidently discovered, in looking over an old file of Philadelphia papers, published in the year 1797. From it we have reason to suppose, that similar difficulties to the present then existed. The advice is not now unseasonable, and may yet be profited by:

Marietta Pilot.

Serious times are coming fast upon us what with rage of speculation, & persons overtrading themselves, and living beyond their incomes, a consira[ble number] find themselves in distressed circumstances and perhaps on the brink of ruin. The wealth of some was indeed a mere operation on paper, without any solid foundation for its support. It was a sort of Baloon floating in the air, and liable every moment to be overturned and dashed to peices. The war and various adventitious circumstances, not necessary at present to recount, have given birth to an artificial and hollow system of credit, which tends to destroy economy; and sobriety of manners, and unavoidbly leads to licentiousness both in principle and conduct. Considering the expensive manner of living too generally adopted, and the rage of speculation so prevalent among us for some years past, it is to be wondered at that more Bankruptcies have not already taken place. Credit has lately been shaken and many owing to the scarcity of money, are unable to fulfil the numerous contracts entered into during the rage of speculation, and it is to be feared that the mischief, instead of approximating to its termination, is but just commencing its career. It is high time to retrench and be provident to give speculation to the wind and to apply ourselves to a course of industry and thrift. The good old habits of our ancestors will eventually be found to be the safest and most condutive to our worldly interest, as well as our internal quietude and peace. They laboured hard and were economists; their gain was little, but sure; they added something every year to their stock; their estates encreased gradually, and ultimately enabled them to make a decent provision for their families. Alas, how changed are the times or rather how altered are we their Sons. Old things are done away: every thing is become new. A rash spirit of enterprise an unwarrantable boldness in speculation, and an adventurous and hazardous disposition in the pursuit of gain, are characteristics of the present era, and sad omens of delusion and ruin. May we profit by the event and become sober minded and attentive to our business moderate in our wishes, and contented with small but certain profits.

The wheel of fortune is for ever turning round; not one in a thousand ever reaches its top, and when he does, the next turn, perhaps, casts him off, or places him at the bottom. Let us pursue the line of industry; it is safe and profitable and accords with the course of nature and mandate of God, it leads to competence and honor and conduces to health of body and peace of mind.

Take Notice

On Thursday night the second instant, came to anchor off my house, a small Schooner Boat, about ten tons burthen, pilot boat built trunk cabin, an old fore and mainsail, her name and port on her stern unintelligible. From her appearance I was induced to board her, when I found her without hands: and her drifting off the next evening after boarding, with a northwesterly wind, I have taken charge of her. The owner or owners of said boat are requested to come forward, prove property, pay charges and take her away, otherwise she will be disposed of as the law directs in such cases.

JAMES KENNEDY & SON,

BOOKSELLERS, KING STREET,

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT MEDICINE Store, No. 46 Maiden Lane, N. York.

A FRESH SUPPLY

Of the following genuine Medicines.

For the prevention and cure of Bilious and Malignant Fevers, is recommended

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings, in several parts of the West Indies, and the Southern & Middle States, particularly in N. York Philadelphia, Baltimore, Petersburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Edenton, Wilmington, Charleston, and Savannah. The testimony of a number of persons at each of the above places can be adduced, who have reason to believe, that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives, when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy, founded on mere assertion.

It is not, indeed, presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these Pills, taken once in every two weeks, during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventative; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate, and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation, and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile & prevent its morbid secretions—to restore & amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which is so often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance—they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

HAMILTON'S WORM DESTROYING LOZENGES.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions orfoulness in their stomach and bowels.

The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

DESCRIPTION OF WORMS.

And the symptoms by which they are known:

Worms which infest the human body, are chiefly of four kinds, viz.—The Teres, or large round worm; the Ascarides, or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitina, or short, flat, white worm; and lastly, the Tænia, or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long, and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food, and sometimes voracious; purging, with slimy & fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; slow fever, with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face oated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms, should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success, in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and ging of chint "—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys the hand of the infant part of our citizens in likewise the mildest and m cer tain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number, whom in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. The Life of Patrick Henry.

PROPOSAL

By James Webster, of Philadelphia, for publishing by Subscription,

THE LIFE OF

The late Patrick Henry,

Containing many of his Speeches, &c. Embellished with a Likeness: By Wm. Wirt, Esq. of Richmond, (Va)

Extract from the Port Folio for August. 1815.

"It is not without a sentiment of sincere gratification that we witness, in the following proposal, arrangements making by a competent hand, to do justice to the character of one of the most worthy and distinguished of our countrymen. As a statesman, a civilian, an orator and a patriot, Patrick Henry was entitled to stand in the foremost rank: Nor do his merits claim an inferior station as a firm, an honest, and an honorable man. He was one of those worthies on whose purity suspicion could never fix a stain.

"If nature did much for Mr. Henry's character while living, accident has not been wanting in its favors to his posthumous fame: for to have found such a biographer as Mr. Wirt, so competent as a writer, and so peculiarly well qualified in every moral relation, is not the least fortunate incident in his history.

"In Mr. Wirt's Life of Patrick Henry we are irresistably impelled to expect much: the materials being excellent, and in great abundance, and the writer able and devoted to his subject. Nor do we think that the public will run any risk of being disappointed by bearing us company in our high expectations. We hope, and, indeed, have no doubt that the work will receive a liberal patronage."

CONDITIONS.

The work will be printed on a fine paper, in one octavo volume, and will contain from 350 to 400 pages.

It will be delivered to subscribers, in good calf binding, at three dollars per copy. The price to non-subscribers will be three dollars and fifty cents.
